

Home Staging with Maggie Fithian

If you are selling your home, but you feel it may need a “special something” to impress prospective homebuyers, Maggie Fithian of Maggie’s Designs may be the special someone to give you that “special something.”

In order to sell a home more quickly and for a higher selling price, Fithian, an accredited home stager, shows homeowners how to prepare their houses for sale by “Staging It Yourself.”

“I can honestly say I’ve completed four consultations in the last two weeks, and three of them have sold in less than eight days,” she said.

With expert advice, Fithian utilizes items within a home to optimize its specific features, room size and room flow. If necessary, especially for vacant houses on the market, she has a vast inventory of furniture and accessories to use.

For those interested in the benefits, process and cost of home staging, Fithian also offers free “webinars.” To sign up, visit www.maggies-designs.com. For more information on home staging, call 484-678-1695.
